THE RENAISSANCE SOCIETY STUDENT COMMITTEE

The Renaissance Society is located on the fourth floor of Cobb Hall, where we present contemporary art exhibitions along with a regular program of events and publications. Founded in 1915 by a group of University of Chicago faculty members, we are an independent, non-collecting museum with an experimental ethos.

The Ren's Student Committee is an active group of students, both undergraduate and graduate, from any college or university in Chicago. Students in all fields of study are encouraged to apply; all you need is an interest in contemporary art and the Renaissance Society's program. There are no member enrollment limits this season: all applicants will be accepted.

The Committee will convene monthly during the academic year to participate in a program of activities unique to the group.

We're currently looking for new members who are enthusiastic about contemporary art and excited to engage closely with the Ren and its program.

Committee activities begin in October 2024 and extend through June 2025. Participants should expect roughly one engagement per month, including meetings, field trips, workshops, opportunities to meet artists, and more. Consistent attendance is encouraged but not strictly required, and some programs may have limits on the number of participants, with spots allocated among Committee members by first come, first served RSVP.

THE RENAISSANCE SOCIETY STUDENT COMMITTEE: CALL FOR MEMBERS

The Renaissance Society is located on the fourth floor of Cobb Hall, where we present contemporary art exhibitions along with a regular program of events and publications. Founded in 1915 by a group of University of Chicago faculty members, we are an independent museum with an experimental ethos.

The Ren's Student Committee is an active group of students, both undergraduate and graduate, from any academic institution in Chicago. Students in all fields of study are encouraged to apply and all will be accepted; all you need is an interest in contemporary art and the Renaissance Society's program. The Committee will meet monthly during the academic year and participate in a program of activities unique to the group.

The main goals of the student committee are:

Developing relationships between students and the Ren

- Enjoy behind-the-scenes access at the Ren and opportunities to meet and connect with museum staff
- Learn more about how our international non-collecting art museum works through educational workshops in areas such as programming, publishing, communications, development, and administration
- Take part in roughly 1 special event per month, including workshops, discussions, studio visits, trips to galleries, meals with exhibiting artists, and more

Forming new connections

- Meet and connect with artists, arts professionals, and other students interested in contemporary art from all over Chicago
